The strengthening of the Orbit's economic readiness to support war would probably include the establishment or strengthening of Satellite organizations for military production. Information is needed on the agencies set up for this purpose or the delegation of these functions to existing bodies. Specific information is desired on the organization of logistical or rear services for the ground or air forces, the methods of operation of such agency, the type of activity planned, the degree of control exercised by the Soviet Union, and the coordination between the production ministries and the requirements of the military forces. (C)

Please add or retain the following items:

Additions:

1. Eastern Europe-General Economic, p. 25, item 8: Information on the number of technicians involved is also needed. Are they all professionally qualified or are some interlopers sent along to penetrate the governments of the recipient countries? Are the technicians of first, second or third string caliber? How much time are they to spend in specific countries? Is there any indication of the formation of teams of Soviet and Satellite technicians to be rotated from one external project to another? (S)
2. Eastern Europe-General Political, pp. 29-33, Albania p. 37, item 8a; Bulgaria, p. 40, item 1c; Hungary, p. 57, item 1; and for the other individual Satellites where appropriate. Indicate the numbers of re-defectors involved and their last place of residence. (S)
3. Eastern Europe-General Economic; Bulgaria, p. 43, item 5c; Czechoslovakia, p. 47, item 5f; and for the other individual Satellites where appropriate. In connection with the publicized reduction in military forces, to what sectors of the economy are the discharges being allocated? Are they being trained for newer, more skilled positions? How successful are these efforts? (S)
4. Albania, p. 37, item 6. Information on the labor force and its composition is needed as nothing was included on this topic in 1955 plan fulfillment data. (S)
5. East Germany, p. 52, item 6b. Evidences of shortages of professional, technical, and skilled manpower are of particular interest in view of (a) defections to West Germany and (b) East Germany's participation in the Soviet and Satellite economic penetration of the Middle East. (S)

SECRET

6. Eastern Europe, particularly Poland. Toward the end of 1955 the USSR once again legalised abortion. Since then the issue has been considered in the Polish press. What are the economic factors involved? How strong is the opposition? Is there any evidence of other European Satellites falling into line? (S)

7. Rumania, p. 67, item 1d. How many political prisoners have been released or are likely to be released--in the tens or hundreds? Are they being released because their skills are needed in the industrialization of the country? (S)

8. Rumania, p. 68, 2a. (add) There is more interest in wages by broad wage categories than by individual wages. (S)
